The information herewith presented gives the location and basic classifications of subject matter for railroads, past and present. Except as noted below, an X indicates material. The list does not include quantity at the location or the specific years. It represents materials at the Transportation Library and the Manuscripts Division of the main library.

- INU Northwestern Univ. Library (Main) <sup>Special</sup> ~~Manuscripts~~ Coll., Evanston, Ill. 60208
 There are two collections (very strong on New England RRs): Greene Collection and Greene Railroad Folders Collection. The latter is cataloged alphabetically by railroad name. Most railroads are in the Greene Railroad Folder Collection rather than the Greene Collection. For railroads having an X in Archives the Folder Collection should be checked first. If nothing is found, then check the two drawer card index of the Greene Collection. Some railroads appear in several different places in the drawers, and so the entire thing must be looked thru. If a railroad has material in both collections, the Archives column shows #1199. Both collections must then be checked. There are many very good items in these two collections. Also a very good collection of state maps of 1870s-1900.
- JCR Northwestern University, Transportation ~~Center~~ Library (located in the main library), Evanston, Ill, 60208. Has excellent collection of annual reports partially obtained from the John Crerar Library, Copeland Traffic Density maps (by far the best collection in the United States), a lot of foreign country railroad material, and has other materials dealing with specific railroads obtained from the Crerar Library. However, Northwestern's card catalog index cards of Crerar railroad books may show books which were never transferred to Northwestern, and are probably still in the Crerar Library at the Univ. of Chicago. The library also has an excellent collection of books dealing with foreign countries and specific foreign railroads. These can be found in the Association of American Railroads and the Deering Collections which they have.

The classifications of subject matter are:

- Pic Photographs
 Neg Negatives. The facility has a catalog listing of individual negatives
 Dat (data) Research notes, clippings, publicity & advertising by the company, printed articles, odds and ends
 Ros (rosters) Records concerning locomotives and cars
 TTs timetables, public (P) and/or employee (E). An X indicates either
 Pas Passes, annual and/or trip (P or X). T indicates tickets
 AR Annual reports to stockholders, state public utility commissions
 Arch Archives. Incorporation and merger papers, receiverships, mortgages, corporate records of all kinds except annual report
 Map Maps of the railroad and yards including profiles.

Bk Books published by the railroad usually concerning corporate records. Books does not include histories of the company published since 1930.

Note: In the Arch column is sometimes a number rather than an X. This number refers to a more descriptive reference:

- 1199 INU *1199 in Archvres indicates there are materials pertaining to the railroad in the Howard Greene Collection and the Railroad Folders Collection. The latter is well indexed. The Green Collection is indexed in two index card file drawers but not alphabetically. Some railroads appear in 2, 3, or even 4 different locations in the drawers so that the entire drawers must be checked.
- 1200 JCR Northwestern's Transportation Library, besides annual reports, has much of the John Crerar Library archive materials which are cataloged separately. Also using the same number are the Copeland Traffic Density Maps (These came out annually between about 1925 and 1955. Some RRs have only 1 while on other may have up to 10) and the RFC (Reconstrction Finance Corps. maps of the 1930s along with corporate structure charts. RR maps show trackage rights and subsidiary lines.
The 1200 with an X in the map column means an RFC report and also possibly Copeland material and Crerar
The 1200 with X in Book column means books filed in the Deering and/or AAR Collections.
The 1200 with no other X (except maybe in annual reports) means it is cataloged in the Crerar Coll.
The NC&St.L has Copeland maps but not RFC material. All other railroads having Copeland also have RFC
